

A Free Seminar: A Will is required by the Qur'an and the Sunnah

Islamic Will and Last Testament

فَرِيضَةٌ مِنَ اللَّهِ
نَصِيْبًا مَّفْرُوضًا

Qur'an: It is an obligation on Muslims to write a Will: "There is a share for men and a share for women from what is left by parents and those nearest related, whether, the property be small or large - a legal share." Surah An-Nisa' 4:7

Hadith: Our Prophet (sallalahu alaihe wa sallam) said: "It is not permissible for any Muslim who has something to will, to sleep two consecutive nights without having his last will written and kept ready with him." Narrated by Abdullah bin Umar (R): Sahih Al-Bukhāri, #2738

We will cover the following topics:

- Introduction to different types of Wills.
- Differences between Islamic Will vs. Secular Will.
- Probate court and how it functions?
- State specific will requirements.
- Important sections of an Islamic Will.
- Three Categories of heirs in the Islamic law of inheritance.
- Your religious obligations
- The rules of 1/3 optional bequest.
- Share calculation using the table or computer program, which can be downloaded from the Internet.
- Three verses in the Qur'an that specify the distribution of your estate.

We will provide answers to the following questions:

- What happens if you die without a Will?
- Who cannot inherit according to Islamic law of inheritance?
- Can you disinherit someone?
- Types of wills and trusts?
- What will happen if witnesses who signed your Will are not available at a later date?
- What is self-proving affidavit?
- Who should be the executor of your will?
- Do you need to nominate guardians of minor children in a will?
- What happens to your will if you and your spouse both died same time in an accident?
- What is the legal ruling of who died first in a group disaster or accident (simultaneous deaths)?
- What is 120-hour rule and how it can affect your will?
- What if someone owes you money? Can you choose to forgive a debt in your last will?
- How to amend a will? How to revoke a will?
- Do you have to notarize your will?

AVAILABLE NOW

The Authors have spent seven years in the preparation of this book on Inheritance Laws and the Islamic Will that complies with Islamic and State Laws

A Will is a Legal Way to:

- Protect Yourself • Your Family
- Your Children • Your Body
- Your Obligations • Your Future

Important

- If you already have a Will, does it comply with both Islamic and State laws to be a VALID Will?
- Non-Muslim lawyers do not have the knowledge of Islamic Laws of Inheritance to fulfill your Islamic obligation.
- Most Muslim lawyers do not have the knowledge and expertise in inheritance laws in Islam.
- You can now write your own Will by following the step-by-step-procedure in the book.

There is no cost to attend this important presentation. Please invite your family and friends (no children).

Date: July 7th 2018 Time: 2:00 pm